

MASTER OF ARTS IN PRACTICAL THEOLOGY TEACHING MINISTRIES CONCENTRATION

This program equips graduates for teaching ministries in churches, Bible Institutes, para-church organizations, and other ministry settings. The concentration provides a foundation in educational theory and practice that will assist students to pursue teaching vocations or doctoral studies. It seeks to develop the essential knowledge and skills for classroom methodology and effective application of educational theory.

In addition to a strong biblical and theological foundation, the curriculum is flexible enough to meet the demands of both professional and lay positions. The concentration provides opportunity for the expression of individual interests through specialized research and projects. The practicum will encourage students to seek both national and international opportunities for supervised practice.

The objectives of the Master of Arts in Practical Theology-Teaching Ministries Concentration are to:

- Prepare candidates with a foundational knowledge of the content of Scripture within its cultural and historical context with application to selected contemporary situations.
- Prepare students to increase competence and understanding in the Word of God by utilizing basic methods of biblical interpretation.
- Provide a basic knowledge of the contents and methods of Christian theology.
- Provide a basic knowledge of the key movements and figures together with their significance in the history of Christianity.
- Prepare students to effectively communicate the message of Christianity in various cultural contexts.
- Enable students to develop skills and practical ministry strategies.
- Integrate theological reflection and practice through internship opportunities.
- Promote a biblical/theological understanding of the person, work, and ministry of the Holy Spirit.
- Enable students to articulate clearly their ministry/professional calling.

The training I am receiving at ORU prepares me to minister and teach the Bible to transform, not just inform. The combination of academics and practical application in this program equips me for the future. Above all, ORU emphasizes the Holy Spirit's work in my life to lead and guide me to the path laid out for me. The Seminary at ORU is an encouraging environment with a deep sense of community where students can continue to grow in several areas. I cherish daily interactions with students, faculty and staff in which meaningful conversations occur. (C.M.) ”
